HSU Healthier Together: Share Your Ideas on Student Wellbeing Priorities

Humboldt State University students are facing a healthcare shortage on campus and we have a responsibility to fix it – wait times are increasing and there is insufficient capacity to meet student needs. Most students will use medical, counseling, or health education services during their time at HSU, and a healthier campus has a positive effect on the success of every student. With limited community resources, HSU's on-campus Health and Wellbeing Services are the only resource for many students.

Add your voice to the discussion about how to structure necessary health fee adjustments and your top priorities for adding campus medical, counseling, and health education services for all students. With increased capacity, wait times for counseling and psychiatric services will be decreased, and health education programs like Check It, and Oh SNAP! will be maintained and expanded. Likewise, facilities will be improved to match the increasing demands on student health and wellbeing services.

Share your perspective and learn more by visiting humboldt.edu/healthiertogether.

Voice your opinion through the National College Health Assessment survey, which includes health fee prioritization questions. Students, check your email beginning Feb. 19 for an invitation to participate.

Engage during public forums with all events posted to humboldt.edu/healthiertogether as soon as they are announced.

Sincerely,

W. Wayne Brumfield, Ph.D.
